THE BEGINNING OF THINGS.

In the days before the new era, Allacoochee was a dead-alive village with a single street [illegible] the landing on the river bank up to the weather-beaten courthouse on the first slope of John's mountain. It differed [illegible] northern Alabama it was on the [illegible] inconsequence. Its reason for existence was purely geographical; the Chiwassee valley divides Chilmath county into [illegible] the ferry was a [illegible] essible to the farmers in the [illegible] and to the dwellers on Jalak mountain on the east and John's mountain on the west. In the sprinkling of weather-worn buildings strewn upon the hillside facing the river, but three were relatively notable. One was the [illegible] two-storied, with a classic porch out of which tumbled a cataract of steps flowing down to the [illegible] windowless in the [illegible] self-assertive and pretentious in front, with a high forehead of weather-boarding rising above the wooden awning over the sidewalk. The third was the Mountain house, just across the street from Catron's. It had been a planter's [illegible] masters and slaves, and in falling from its better estate the square brick house had brought down some reminders of ancient stateliness and solidity. There was a suggestion of comfort in its deep verandas, roomy hallways and wide fireplaces, but the hint was lost in the general aspect of decay and neglect, and the Mountain house, together with everything else in the village, pointed toward a gradual and [illegible]

WAR CLOUDS THICKENING.

The cloud of war is thickening. It seems impossible that the cause of the destruction of the battleship Maine will be kept secret from the people of the United States. The sessions of the Court are secret, but nothing will be given to the public, until its labors are completed and the result announced to the President by Secretary Long. From remarks dropped here and there by the divers at work on the wrecked vessel, it has been inferred that the battleship was wrecked by Spanish treachery. No one pretends to believe that the Spanish Government had any previous knowledge of the blowing up of the ship. It is believed to have been the work of a band of Spanish desperadoes—Weylerites—who hoped by forcing the Maine to force General [illegible]

During the past ten days relations between the United States and Spain have been strained. The Federal Treasury has been depleted to put the country in a state of defense in case of war with Spain. The latter country, while professing peace, is constantly preparing for a war with the United States. Should the Court of Inquiry [illegible] Maine was blown up by a torpedo, the Spanish Government will be called upon to make reparation. A failure to comply with this request would be an immediate declaration of war on the part of the United States.

In this spirit of mutual Spain has been purchasing warlike supplies. Agents of the Spanish Government have been in this country for months, buying ammunition. It has been reported that they have been [illegible] Metropolis says from any source. A Girl Spider Web.

When a fly gets caught in the web of the spider, it is not the spider that kills it, but the fly dies of fright. The spider is a cannibal, and will kill and eat its own kind, but the fly is not its natural food. Fright kills more than disease. Fear is a deadly foe. Those who are afflicted with any of the diseases peculiar to women, should not fear them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures 98 per cent. of all cases it is recommended for. It cures the most obstinate cases of female weakness, irregularity, prostration, bearing-down pains, and kindred troubles. It is the only medicine for women sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This is a positive guarantee. You pay only for the good you get. Nothing can be fairer. Nothing can be more liberal. Nothing can show more confidence in a medicine. Nothing can show more confidence in the makers of a medicine. Nothing can show more confidence in the makers of a medicine. Nothing can show more confidence in the makers of
